FIRST QUARTER REPORT FOR THE PERIOD ENDED 31 MARCH 2004

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE GROWTH ENTERPRISE MARKET (“GEM”) OF THE STOCK EXCHANGE OF HONG KONG LIMITED (THE “STOCK EXCHANGE”)

GEM has been established as a market designed to accommodate companies to which a high investment risk may be attached. In particular, companies may list on GEM with neither a track record of profitability nor any obligation to forecast future profitability. Furthermore, there may be risks arising out of the emerging nature of companies listed on GEM and the business sectors or countries in which the companies operate. Prospective investors should be aware of the potential risks of investing in such companies and should make the decision to invest only after due and careful consideration. The greater risk profile and other characteristics of GEM mean that it is a market more suited to professional and other sophisticated investors.

Given the emerging nature of companies listed on GEM, there is a risk that securities traded on GEM may be more susceptible to high market volatility than securities traded on the Main Board and no assurance is given that there will be a liquid market in the securities traded on GEM.

The principal means of information dissemination on GEM is publication on the internet website operated by the Stock Exchange. Listed companies are not generally required to issue paid announcements in gazetted newspapers. Accordingly, prospective investors should note that they need to have access to the GEM website in order to obtain up-to-date information on GEM-listed issuers.

This announcement, for which the directors (the “Directors”) of CK Life Sciences Int'l., (Holdings) Inc. (the “Company”) collectively and individually accept full responsibility, includes particulars given in compliance with the Rules Governing the Listing of Securities on the Growth Enterprise Market of The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited (the “GEM Listing Rules”) for the purpose of giving information with regard to the Company. The Directors, having made all reasonable enquiries, confirm that, to the best of their knowledge and belief: (i) the information contained in this announcement is accurate and complete in all material respects and not misleading; (ii) there are no other matters the omission of which would make any statement in this announcement misleading; and (iii) all opinions expressed in this announcement have been arrived at after due and careful consideration and are founded on bases and assumptions that are fair and reasonable.

CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT

Expansion Through Diversification

Financial Highlights

I am pleased to report that CK Life Sciences Int'l., (Holdings) Inc. and its subsidiaries ("CK Life Sciences" or the "Group") recorded an unaudited turnover of HK$17,527,000 in the first quarter ended 31 March 2004, representing an increase of 231% over that of the HK$5,295,000 recorded in the corresponding quarter of last year.

The unaudited profit attributable to shareholders for the quarter amounted to HK$372,000, demonstrating an increase of 64% over the HK$227,000 recorded in the corresponding quarter of last year.

HK$'000	Q1 of 2004	Q1 of 2003	Percentage Increase
Turnover	17,527	5,295	231%
Profit attributable to shareholders	372	227	64%

During the period under review, the total sales of fertilizer amounted to HK$15,771,000, representing an increase of 198% over the HK$5,295,000 recorded in the same period last year. Strategic plans have been implemented to facilitate the Group's business expansion and to accelerate development and market penetration in targeted markets, in particular, China.

The Board of Directors has not declared any dividend for the period under review.

Business Progress

CK Life Sciences' first quarter performance marks a promising beginning for the 2004 financial year. During this period, the Group has made rapid progress in R&D, product commercialization and corporate expansion. Following the Group's well-versed pattern and leveraging on its established business and R&D platform, CK Life Sciences looks forward to making further achievements this year.

A New Horizon in Immunity Research

The relationship between immunity and health is a close one. CK Life Sciences has selected immunity as its main research focus and has allocated substantial resources to conducting studies on how to regulate the immune system. So far, results have been very encouraging.

The Group has conducted collaborative studies on immunity together with a number of internationally renowned research institutes. Findings have demonstrated that the Group's inventions deliver significant and positive impact on enhancing immune performance, thereby reinforcing the Group's stature in the field of immunology. During the period under review, the following research findings were announced:

Joint Research with Beijing Experts

In a joint research project conducted with Professor Xu Rong Kun, Professor of Physiology, and his colleagues at the Peking Union Medical College in the PRC, immune-suppressed mice were fed with CK Life Sciences' product. After 17 days, the phagocytic index of macrophage in the mice increased five-fold. The capability of enhancing immunity under a suppressed environment is testimony to the product's effectiveness.

Research Conducted by The Chinese University of Hong Kong

In an anti-cancer study conducted by The Chinese University of Hong Kong, the Group's product was fed to mice for 14 days and results indicated that the cytokine secretion of the mice increased by about 50% to 70%. Cytokines are small biological factors released by cells that deliver messages to different immune cells. They have specific regulatory effects on cell functions and are important elements in immunity regulation.

Research Conducted in CK Life Sciences' R&D Laboratory

Scientists of CK Life Sciences have also carried out a series of in-vitro studies in their laboratory where peripheral blood mononuclear cells were isolated from humans and incubated with a concentration of the Group's product. Results showed that certain kinds of cytokines were induced, even in the presence of very low doses.

Research Collaboration with Harvard Medical School

A joint study was conducted with the Partners AIDS Research Center at Massachusetts General Hospital, the largest teaching hospital of Harvard Medical School. CK Life Sciences' product was shown to induce a double-digit increase in the secretion of TNF-alpha (a cytokine) by immune cells in the blood samples of both HIV+ and HIV- (i.e. healthy) individuals, thereby enhancing the performance of the immune cells. The results therefore revealed that the product not only has immuno-modulating effects in the blood samples of healthy individuals, but also in the blood samples of AIDS patients, indicating its potential extensive applications.

These studies verify the broad application of the Group's unique immunity R&D platform, as well as demonstrate the effectiveness of the products in modulating immune performance.

More Nutraceuticals to be Launched

Findings from recent studies have affirmed the effectiveness and applicability of the Group's immunity research. Based on this immunity R&D platform, a series of nutraceutical products aimed at enhancing immunity have been developed and marketed under the VitaGain™ brand. The Group will launch effective strategies to develop the immuno-enhancing product market, one that has great growth potential.

During the period, the Group launched “VitaGain™ for Daily Immunity”. Based on the theory that the chances of infection can be minimized by enhancing immunity, this product is designed for people with high pressure jobs or minor ailments, patients recovering from sickness and those who need to maintain optimal health at all times.

CK Life Sciences has developed and launched two categories of nutraceutical products: one designed to help healthy individuals meet the challenges of everyday life and decrease their chances of infection. “VitaGain™ for Daily Immunity” belongs to this group. The second aims at addressing specific ailments. “VitaGain™ Pre-Cold & Flu Formula” and “VitaGain™ Nasal Allergy Relief” are examples in this category. Other products for specific ailments will soon be launched.

Strategic Acquisitions Enhance Business Development

CK Life Sciences has developed a two-pronged strategy for rapid business growth. On the one hand, the Group will embark on initiatives to speed up sales and launch new products; while on the other hand, it will accelerate its pace of expansion through strategic acquisitions. The Group will identify synergistic acquisition targets that will complement its R&D and market expansion plans to drive growth.

The Group made three acquisitions in the first quarter of 2004, strengthening its capability in vertical integration:

Acquisition of Fertilizer Distribution Network in China

The Group and its Mainland partner, Nanjing Red Sun Co Ltd, committed over RMB100 million to two cooperation initiatives. The first initiative involved the acquisition of a vast distribution network spanning over 470 distribution points across the entire province of Jiangsu. The second involved the setting up of a fertilizer plant to facilitate an increase in fertilizer production.

Investment in Australian Fertilizer Company - Fertico

The Group purchased a 60% stake in Fertico Pty Limited, a fertilizer company in South Australia specializing in the production and distribution of organic fertilizers and home gardening products. The company has an extensive distribution network and comprehensive production facilities. The acquisition of Fertico is expected to be a catalyst for the Group’s development in the fertilizer market by:

- facilitating penetration in the organic food sector;
- tapping into the home garden market;
- accelerating market penetration through local manufacturing.

Investment in Australian Water Treatment Plant – AquaTower

Together with Cheung Kong Infrastructure Holdings Limited, the Group acquired interests in AquaTower Pty Ltd, the exclusive potable water supplier for four regional towns in Victoria, Australia. With a 51% stake, the project represents the Group’s first step in the Australian water treatment business. Investment in the water treatment sector can accelerate the Group’s development in bioremediation business and enhance its operations.

Prospects

Looking forward, the Group will continue to progress along the following strategic directions:

The Group will continue to partner with internationally renowned institutions to conduct collaborative studies on health-related products. Results on research programmes will be collated and announced when completed. The research progress will speed up the development pace of health-related products and accelerate the Group's R&D timetable.

In existing markets, the Group will expedite sales of launched products and thereby strengthen its overall profit base.

The Group will further boost its capability in vertical integration by cooperating with or investing in businesses which can create synergy with CK Life Sciences' existing operations. This strategy is expected to facilitate expansion of the Group's scale of operations in product research, sales and marketing, and manufacturing. With strong support from different sectors, vertical integration will give the Group flexibility to adjust its mode of operation to suit the demands of different target markets, and accelerate its rate of expansion. The Group is actively seeking acquisition and business development opportunities to achieve this aim.

Concurrent Vertical and Horizontal Integration to Strengthen Depth and Breadth

This is the Group's seventh quarter since listing. Over the past year or so, the Group's strong sales foundation has been established and its achievements in R&D continuously affirmed. Products with shorter development cycles have been launched according to plan, contributing to revenue and providing resources for research in products with a longer development lead time.

The Group's main strategy will be to leverage on its ample resources to expand sales, conduct research and development, and make investments and acquisitions. Sales and financial investments will widen the Group's revenue base, while research and acquisitions will expand its product portfolio. The Group's growth roadmap features sales and investments that will enhance its short term prospects, and acquisitions that will boost its intermediate prospects, while innovative R&D will be the long term growth sustaining power. This three-pronged development strategy will enable the Group to simultaneously integrate its business both vertically and horizontally, thereby strengthening the depth and breadth of CK Life Sciences for future growth.

The Group will embark on a multi-faceted and diversified development plan and it is envisaged that the speed of development will surpass that of other biotechnology companies. The prospects are promising.

Acknowledgements

The Group's achievements in the first quarter of this year would not have materialized without the hard work and dedication of the entire staff and the cooperation of our business partners. On behalf of the Board of Directors, I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to everyone who has contributed to the Group's achievements. I am convinced that with the same determination and vigor, the Group will continue its pace of rapid development, striving towards greater prosperity.
